Thank you for choosing Pacific Wilderness as your Scuba Instructor Development Center. We understand making the decision to become a PADI Scuba Instructor is a big commitment in both time and financial resources. We can assure you that the staff here at Pacific Wilderness will do everything necessary to insure your training is a thorough and enjoyable experience. Our job is to guarantee you are prepared not only for the PADI Instructor Examination, but also for the real world - working in the dive industry as a PADI OpenWater Scuba Instructor.

Our success and longevity as a dive center are a direct result of our dedication and commitment to providing only the highest quality diver training, dive equipment, and diving services. Our staff has over 50 years of experience teaching the PADI system of diver education and will always be available to assist you during your entire training process. Make no mistakes; we understand how you perform as an instructor is a direct reflection on us, so naturally we want you to do well. We're confident that when you complete your training with Pacific Wilderness you'll have all the skills and knowledge needed to successfully train the next generation of scuba divers.

Our purpose here at Pacific Wilderness is to provide high quality diver training. Our programs cover all levels of training from entry level diver thru OpenWater Instructor. Those wishing to enhance their competitive edge in the diving market, continuing education courses are also available for the newly certified Instructor as well as the seasoned veteran. Courses like, Emergency First Responder Instructor, Dan O2 Instructor, and 16 PADI specialties are conducted throughout the year.

Pacific Wilderness has two IDC Centers in the Southern California area. Both are full service dive facilities with equipment repair departments, rental services, and retail sales departments. Each center is equipped with state of the art classrooms and contains audio/visual equipment which is used during your training to enhance your learning and career development. Our San Pedro location is home to our Custom built indoor heated pool & D.O.T. Approved Tank Hydro-Testing Facility.

Enclosed you will find Instructor Course outlines, Cost worksheets, and a listing of I.D.C. & I.E. Schedules which outline scheduled courses offered here at Pacific Wilderness. Typically the IDC is conducted over four weekends, however, if you have a problem fitting the course into your schedule, please call us and we will do our best to accommodate your needs with a privately scheduled I.D.C.

We look forward to seeing you; feel free to contact us directly if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Fred Colburn
